CHRISTMAS 2023 VENDOR SHOW

Santa, Mrs. Claus and Gianna Brandt

The 2023 Christmas Vendor Show was another successful event! It is all thanks to our vendors, non-profit organizations, our venue owners Lee & Jane for having such a beautiful space, Santa & Mrs. Claus for stopping by and bringing joy to the children, Lois Zahn with Funtime Karaoke & DJ Service for providing the photobooth, music and entertainment all afternoon, to all those that helped with setting up the gym the night before and after, my dear friend Serina Eisenbraun who has helped co-coordinate every event this year, and YOU, our supporters, and customers for coming and shopping the day away with us. It has been such a year of blessings as small businesses have networked and partnered with each other throughout the year and each event and I thank you from the bottom of my heart for being a part of this very special mission for Ava's Light. ~Ava's mom

- 1 (8 oz) pkg PHILADELPHIA Cream Cheese, softened

- In a mixing bowl, mix the softened cream cheese, sugar, milk & lime juice together with a hand mixer.
- Once your cookie crust has cooled completely, spread your cream cheese mixture on top of your crust.
- Arrange your fruit on top of your cream cheese mixture.

NORTH DAKOTA GAME & FISH

Zebra Mussels Discovered in Lake Oahe South Dakota

Zebra mussels have been confirmed in the lower end of Lake Oahe in South Dakota, after the species was detected at both the East Shore and Cow Creek boat ramps during inspection done by South Dakota Game, Fish and Parks staff.

Ben Holen, North Dakota Game and Fish Department aquatic nuisance species coordinator, said Cow Creek is over 100 lake miles south of the North Dakota-South Dakota border.

“It will likely take a little time before we see zebra mussels in the upper end of the reservoir, unless they are moved by another vector,” Holen said.

ANS education, prevention and monitoring activities on Lake Oahe will increase, Holen said.

“In addition, we plan to work with our constituents over the next few months to discuss bait water regulations, while the upper end of the lake is uncolonized and cold water inhibits zebra mussel veliger production,” he added.

Oahe recreationists should remember to follow North Dakota ANS regulations.

3 Holiday Quick Takes

By Jacey Wanner, Region 7 Parent Family Education

School is out and kids are home for the holidays. With stress that sometimes comes with decorations, family gatherings, and gift giving, I wanted to provide some hopefully helpful hints to be ready to take on the holiday season with your kids.

Be prepared for meltdowns. Extra sugar, lack of routine, travel, chaos, and visiting family all create the perfect combination to ensure a complete meltdown from your children and potentially from you.

1. Be prepared for these meltdowns and have an exit plan that is not “if” your child throws a temper tantrum, but “when” your child throws a temper tantrum. Plan A could focus on you taking your child to an area they can relax and calm down until they are ready to re-enter the holiday chaos (or fun). Plan B could be an exit strategy.

Talk about these plans with your children. The conversation could sound a little like this: “I know holidays can be loud and there are a lot of people around, please feel free to come and get me if you feel like this is too much and we will take a break. If you start to scream, I am going to take you into an area where we can relax together, or we might just have to leave.”

Parents and caregivers, you are not a failure if you have to leave a holiday party with a screaming child. You are attending to your child who is letting you know that they have had enough holiday cheer.

2. Set your phone up to record a special holiday memory and then take a phone break. Whether that is a gift opening or a meal, find a way to balance your phone on an object to ensure everyone is in frame. This way you can capture the beautiful memory without holding the device. You also get to be included in the beautiful photo or video. After the video time is over, take a break from your phone and just be with your children. Set aside some time focused on the people around you instead of wondering what others on social media are up to.

3. Go check out the lights on Main Street in Mandan and the events going on at the Morton Mandan Library. Bundle everyone in the family up in their warmest gear and go enjoy the walk through the park. You feel like you are in a Hallmark Movie. While you are there, take in all the lights and sights, and also take a moment to be grateful for all of the beautiful people and families in our community.

Happy, happy holidays Morton County. What a wonderful place to celebrate the holidays with family and the community.

My story

When I moved to this area a few years ago from out of state, I realized that all things revolve around beautiful Lake Sakakawea. The communities wouldn't be here if it wasn't for the Dam and because of the incredible history in this area, The Dam News will celebrate all communities and those within that make this so special. ~Brenda
